A GRAND COUP DETAT.

Small Beginnings but Large Endings.

A New York Lawyer Sentenced as a Sailor "Bilker" - A Sailor Arrested and Hush Money Paid on the Warrant-How the Marine Court Grants Orders of Arrest and the Conditions of Settlement-A Strange Story.

"I have a warrant for your arrest."

These were the remarks of an individual named Stenhen H Ronan, a lawyer, to Thomas Pinder, a voyage, and landed at the foot of Maiden lane on Wednesday morning last. It is presumable that appearance of authority, accompanied that "mighty grasp" from which recoil is useless, would be sufficient to spoil the digestion of the veriest Samson who ever lived. In this age the words are unfortunately too often uttered; and the solilation of nervous systems con-sequent thereupon must be immense. In this par-ticular case, however, the colored cook had not the stigntest idea that he had ever done "aught against any man." nor had he been

HAUNTED BY THE GHOST OF A DETECTIVE during his voyage from New York to Liverpool and return, or seen dim visions of the figure of Justice in his dreams; so that the appearance of the apparition in broad daylight was truly a cause for surprise. The case as it was developed in the Court of Special Sessions yesterday, before Judge Dowling,

Thomas Pinder started twelve months ago in the ship Princeton, as cook, for Liverpool, and during the voyage appears to have consucted himself with pro riety. The Princeton returned to New York on the 18th of March, and on Wednesday last Pinder. with others, went to the shipbrokers' office, in South street, to receive his pay. After-leaving the office he was walking up South street when he was accosted by a man who was wearing a shield similar to these worn by the police, and told that he must consider himself a prisoner; that he had a warrant for his arrest and that he must hurry up. The man of course denied that he had committed any offence and at first refused to accompany the man who pretended to have the warrant. This individual then pulled out a bundle of papers and showed what purported to be a warrant for issued against

The document, however, was not read to Pinder, and immediately afterwards three other men, all of the same cambre as Ronan, came up, and began dragging poor Pinder away to Fulton street. In Fuiton street Pinder made a "demonstration," as he termed it, and became bold enough to ask where they were taking him and who the person was to whom the and who the person was to whom the warrant was granted. They showed him a piece of paper with a seal on it and told him to ask no inriber questions. Finner was pulled along uneit Nassun street was teached, when it occurred to him to send for some one to asket him in the dilemma into which he was thus harriedly plunged. He seat for George Thomp-on, another colored man, whose reparation as a salier's bearding house keeper in Canarine street is anything but respectable, and who, no doubt, was in the Organization for extreming money from his less fortunate colored brother. The whole afthir was douctless well planned to doprive this salier of his money, and the evidence will show the principal actor in the drama, and the one who has received the lash of the law, is a lawyer. Thompson came in response to the call of Pinder, for Finder had ust left him at the door of the office, from whence he had received his money, and, after whispering aside with the principal actor, he came over to Pinder and said, "Now, I sell you what it is, you'll be "rested sure if you don't give these then ten dollars."

"fon dollars! for what?" said Finder, "I done nothin, and won't pay nothin; I aint guilty of this mother, and won't pay nother; I aim guitty of this 'ere charge."

"Pil be d—d," said Ronan, "if I take a cent less than thirty-five dollars; so just hip or go in." At the corner of water and Falton streets it was suggested that drinks all round should be paid for by Pinder, and Pinder agreed to come up "like a man." This little opisode being ended the question of the ways and means a am cropped up, and Thompson suggested that twenty-five dollars be handed to the parties and "nave done with it." "I don't want to be locked up, certainly," said Pinder; "but let us go to the court and settle; then I'll understand this."

"Now, then, young feller," joined in one of the gang, "you may think yourself blame well off out of this job for twent-fave dollars and drinks."

"Give the money to the boy, Pinder," said Ronan; "it is too pairry a sum for me to take out of commands. I'll receive it from the bay, but not Ronan; "it is too pairry a sum or the boy, but not your nands. Fil receive it from the boy, but not from you."

Pinder gave the boy, who had been sent for Pinder gave the boy, who had been sent for Pinder gave the money. He handed it to compson previously, the money. He handed it is man, and as the latter pocketed the bills he sai Pinder. "Don't show your black figurenead is a er street for a week, nor teil any one that yo wa'er street for a week, nor tell any one that you have paid gny money."

So far it seemed as though the whole affair had been a pure robbery by bogus detectives, armed with a togus warrant. But 10! Mr. Howe, as complete for the defence, came forward and desired to prove that the warrant was real—a gonuine doonment. BEARING THE SIGNATURE OF THE MARINE COURT, officer of the Princetown, and a cook on the same vessel tyied as Richara Roe; that it was issued snojoct to the adidavit of a Mr. Ridgeway, a practising attorney of that court. Counsel moreover attempted to proved that his client was a respectable attorney practising in the Supreme Court of this city; that he was not with the party at all; that the real man who took the money was a notorious seamen's agent—John O'Toole—whom the detendant unfortianately represented in personal appearance, so much so that onescoula scarcely know them apart.

Thomas Huat, the boy was first received the money, gave his evidence in a clear and concise manner, and swore positively that "inwyer Rowan" received the money from an hands, and recited the Junige Dowling—"You know Pinder?" "I do,"

"Were you with him when he paid his twenty-five dollars?" "I was." "Do you know John O'Toole " "Well." "Was he present when the boy held out the money?" "He was."
"How long have you known Finder?" "I shave was clarred?" "No." "Yet you commelled him to pay over ten dollars? You did not believe him guilty yet you recommended him to pay?" "I did."

"Then you clearly are not a fit subject to exercise the

"Then you clearly are not a fit subject to exercise the PRIVILEGES OF THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT."

"Did you receive any portion of the money?"

"No, stree." "Do you know the defendant?"

"Well, I have khown him five years as a lawyer; I don't know where he practises law, but I have seen alm to court; from an's office is in Chambers street; I don't think he has a sign out; I have seen him writing at a desk there." "He never prepared any papers for you?" "I don't know," "Did you ever take any chents there and receive a percentage on the business?" "I dod." "That will do."

The defendant stated he was a practising attorney, and denied all knowledge of the affair.

The next witness

BROUGHT THE MATTER TO A CLIMAX.

James Donovan declared he was a marshal, and had duly received his papers, but was not assigned to any court. He had a warrant from the Marine Court for the arrest of Pinder.

Judge—"You are not assigned to any court, yet you are entrusted with the Marine Court?" "Yes." "You had a warrant for the complainant?" "I had. I arrested him, and asked him if he could furnish a bond. He asked me to send for Thompson, I don't think the defendant was present. John O'Toole and amother were there. A sallor pointed Pinder out to me." "Did you at any time take recognizance or bond for his appearance?" "No." "Well, dad you bring your prisoner before any court?" "No. I did not." "You aw the twenty-five doilars paid?" "I did, to O'Toole," (O'Toole, of course.) "Do you mean to say that you can take the warrants of the Marine Court, and you take the money without giving any papers in discharge?" "That is the custom," "What and that the prisoner can get off without going to court, and you take the money in other words, that a bargain can be strack and that the prisoner can get off without going to court, and you take the money without giving any papers in discharge?" "That is the custom," "What had the form of the marine Court and you take the money and the custom." "Then and the ought to be stopped at onea."

Mr. Ridgway sale

perendant—I have nothing to say.

Judge—There is no class more entitled to protection than suffors. They are worked fearfully and get fittle pay; but there is not a ship that enters the stream which is not boarded by a pack of ruscals, who get to see the names of the men and what they have to receive, and immediately go and obtain "snap warrants" and arrest them. There is an organized organized

GANG WHO GO TO THE MARINE COURT
and obtain these warrants. I have had fifty compaints of this sort where by means of warrants actually obtained from the court with ferged signatures poor simple men have been left without a cent.
Myself and associate are determined to stop it, and the sentence of the court is that Ronan be sent to the Pententiary for six months and pay a fine of flity dollars. I hope the District Attorney will do bis part with this man also.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

With the advancing season there is improved activit, in many departments of the dry goods mar-ket. Domestic cottons have been for the last two weeks unusually active, a break in prices having stimulated the market to such a degree that, but for the previous accumulation, there would have been a scarcity. Various standard prints have been sold in large quantities at a figure lower than the

For bleached sheetings and shirtings, standard makes, there is a short supply, with firm prices. In the medium and lower grades there is less demand, with consequent accumulation and tendency t decline.

Brown sheetings and shirtings are in fair demand,
with no over supply of stocks in agents' hands.
Heavy grades lead the market, fine goods being less Satteens are inquired for and there is no extra Conset jeans are in demand, with prices firm. Prints are in active demand. The market has decidedly improved during the past week, some heavy sales in standards naving been made. The more desirable styles are soid as fast as received, and stocks are being satisfactorily reduced. The different manufactories are producing large collections of desirable light styles, superior in beauty of pattern and color to anything before produced. Ginghams are sative, with continued orders, and stocks reduced.

Percales are in constant demand and the domestic brands are so good that they compete successfully with the imported goods.

Lawis are called for as the season advances, but are not as popular as in former years.

There is an active trade in all grades of spring and summer dress goods, defraole domestic goods being

The absence of the usual large Continental supply has given an im-petus to home manufacturers, and superior grades of gray effects are plenty at much lower figures than of gray close are panels, and may previous season.

Mikado populus are called for, the supply in the market being limited.

Fancy cassimeres move fairly, and the new styles in light colors are source.

In all styles of sathrets there is but little movement.

THE COTTON MOVEMENT. The cotton movement for the week shows a large lecrease in the receipts, but a favorable line of exports. The receipts at all the ports were 77,744 bales against 81,426 bales the previous week. The total against 2,406,346 bales for the corresponding period of the previous year, showing an increase of 905,855 bales in favor of the present season. The exports from all the ports for the week were 111,741 bales against 72,525 bales the same week last year. The total exports for the expused portion of the cotton year are 2,277,679 bales against 1,541,400 bales for the same time last year. The stocks at all the ports are 579,731 bales against 432,296 bales last year.

THE PUBLIC DEST.

The monthly debt statement is summarized as

Decrease of debt during past month ... $11,011,250
Decrease of debt from March 1, 1869, to 294,754,413
The last item is significant in snowing that the reduction of the debt is progressing at the rate of over a hundred milions of dollars a year. The peo-ple ask, "Are we not going too fast?" The advice of the old saying, "Make haste slowly," was never more applicable. The present Congress must reduce the taxes so as to allow Mr. Boutwell for his successor) to pay not more than twenty-five millions THE BANK STATEMENT.

As generally anticipated the bank statement for the week ending April 1 (the vernal period of monetary activity), proves to be very unfavorable. It is the last, or about the last week which can experience the ontward drain of currency, and hence Wall street accepted the bad features of the statement quietly. The stock market was rather better after the agony of expectation was over. The principal changes are a loss of $1,641,315 'in specie, and a loss of $1,922,865 in legal tenders, making the aggregate loss of legal reserve $3,564,180. The deposits have ran down $3,636,207, so that the sarpius above the legal reserve is impaired only $2,650,000. The last mentioned item has in consequence fallen to about $7,800,000. The statement contrasts with its predecessor as follows:-

MONEY FOUR TO SIX PER CENT. The money market was steady at four to five per cent until late in the afternoon, when an active demand set in among the stock houses at five per cent. Some few borrowers were late in their accounts, and had to pay six per cent for the accommodation then afforded them. Tae discount market was steady and unchanged.

Foreign exchange was dull at the rates last quoted.

GOLD DULL-110% A 110%. The gold market was steady and rather firmer until late in the evening, when the activity of the money market induced the speculative holders for a to sell out in preference to taking the risk of high carrying rates next week. The only quotations were 110% and 110%. The mercantile demand in connection with the heavy imports of the week was the occasion of to-day's steadiness. The course of

SUICIDE OF A YOUNG GERMAN WOMAN IN CINCINPATI.

[From the Cincunnati Enquirer, March 30.]

[From the Cincunnati Enquirer, March 30.]

Yesterday afternoon, at about hall past four ofclock, a you g woman named Mrs. Elizabeth Brockmann, Ivang in an alley between Vine and Race and Canal and Twelfith streets, was found suspended to the staircase of her humble dwelling. A rope wound a number of times around her wait and once around ner peck told the sad and shocking story of her weath. The victim had fastened the rope—a common clothesime—to the stairway, about three feet from the floor, and after winding it around her body in the manner described had failen so that it might highten about her neck, and met her death by stranging. When her body was found life was already extinct.

Aris, Brockmann was the wife of a German chairmaker. She was twenty-eight years of age and had been married about eight years, and was the mother of three children, the youngest being only six months old. Mr. Brockmann had quite a mughate fortune at the time of his marriage, and was a grocer in Newport, Kentucky. Eur oud management reduced his income, and he came to this city five years ago and engaged in his present business. The house where the suicide occurred is used on the first hoot as a stable and the family resided on the first hoot as a stable and the family resided on the second floor. Aris, Brockmann's malden name was oker and her parents live in Germany, in the Province of Hannyer, where Mrs. Brockmann was born. They are wealthy and own a large brewery and distillery at Genabrick.

APRIL FIRST.

Pools' Day in New York-Rencontre Between H. G. and H. H.-Theodore as a Mormon Elder-Presents to the White House-Beecher and Caffee-Jim Pisk and Susan Anthony. Whatever disputes may arise as to the antiquity of the festival of all-moots, yesterday's observance thereof in New York proves the respect in which it is still held. The authenmenty of the dim traditions of a Buddha or a Brahma are seldom tested by their religious followers; the fact that hundreds of mil-lions profess those creeds in common with themselves is proof enough for them. Why, then, bother our heads in endeavoring to trace the history of our Brahma, of the brainless, He has mullions of votaries among us who excelled themselves yesterday in tollowing his time-honoren rites. It is one of the assumptions of wise idiois generally that the 1st of April is the only day consecrated to folly. It is but just that this narmless belief should not be interfered with. The initial day of the rainy month has, however, one undoubted claim to superioritynamely, that it is deliberately devoted to

"FUT UP" FOOLERY.
Those who are born fools have a splendid oppor-Those who are born fools have a splendid opportunity for airing their chronic infirmity; those who achieve folly have a chance to try their hands at making themselves rithemous, and these two classes may fail upon the unwary wise to thrust flottey upon them. Among the humane sacrifices offered yesteriay on the attar of this god of the asses' cars were many of our most respected reliew citizens. There is a step even in foolery which it is not safe to take for fear of offending public feeling. It was wrong to send a printed invitation to the venerable Horace described anythms are the tree as a feeling of the colors are the property of the same of the colors are the same of the same are the same of the same are th to send a printed invitation to the venerable Horace Greeley laviting him "10 lecture on WHAT HE KNEW ABOUT BABY-PARMING." at the hall corner of Crosby and Houston streets, the public with sympathize with the simplicity of the chalonics, turmy-top philosopher when they learn that he broke one eye of his spectacles last evening against the probosits of Harry Hill at the above mentioned address. The conduct of Harry in offering to "cail the thing square" by ordering gin and milk for the auchiery sposte of temperance must be looked on as adding insult to injury. The labor of the blonde, withered woman's angel, Theodore filling, in writing a three commit relutation of a letter accusing him of his giving up woman suffrage

IN ORDER TO TURN MORMON, is much to be regretted, although some inlight think is not unnecessary. As far as the foot-makers are concerned the pily of the public is asked for those who directed straw-and-brick filled hampers to "U. S. G., Washington, D. C.," and who paid the express age. To essure, the filanstrous modifical in the national capital was sold, but no one outside of the express come ances can see the loke. This was somewhat counterbalanced by those who marked their packages "Pay on delivery." All such were returned without THANKS, and the express companies had to pay the piper. No less in high was the blea of Pringing Henry W. Beecher into contact with P. Cuffe. The reverend pops of Plymouth was under the impression that it was a gramme nigger-skinned "Cuffee," but said HARD HISIOS ABOUT ST, PAUL when he discovered, on visiting a certain liquor store (if he did), that P. Cuffe was Irish and his Christian name Patrick. So far there was a sort of fustification in the fast that only the sterier sex had been played upon. What shall be thought of the wretch who wrough rupon.

THE FEELINGS OF SUSAN ANTHONY by sending James Fisk, Jr., down in a four horse turnout to take him lady for a drive through Central Fark, or who would send President Hunter, of the Normal College, to see Jen Mace for the purpose of comparing notes in relation to the greens sand in compone sand?

"SAVE THE GIRL."

The Rev. Father Nugent, by his lecture on Thursday evening, has awakened a deep interest in behalf of the street children who are to be found in such numbers in all the great thoroughfares of this city. Some gentlemen propose at once to take steps to check street trading by children under tweive years of age, and especially girls, Several leading citizens have requested Father Nugent to repeat his lecture after Easter in Steinway Hall, and he has consented to do so. In the meantine active steps will be taken to arouse public interest in this social question. The tabits and morality of the little girls who ply their calling of newsvenders are such as to demand inmediate interference. Is there any reason why young girls should be timped to such a dangerous mode of picking up a few cents?
